

Funeral For Cutler B. Downer At Local Church

Cutler B. Downer, 67, formerly of this town for 21 years and senior partner of H. Harris and Co., fruit commissionaire, died last Tuesday night at the Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Winchester First Congregational church with Rev. Howard J. Chubb, pastor, officiating. Private burial services were held at the Wildwood cemetery.

President of the Rutherford Press Inc., Mr. Downer came to this town in 1911 and made his home on Sheffield Rd., until May 1946. Since then he had lived at 65 Commonwealth Ave., Boston. Associated with H. Harris and Co. for the past 47 years, he made his start as an auctioneer at the Boston and Maine fruit terminal in Charlestown and at the time of his death was senior partner of the firm.

Born in Somerville on Feb. 9, 1881, Mr. Downer was graduated from Roxbury Latin School and the Volkmann School. He was a member of the Algonquin Club, the Beacon Society, the Barnstable Club of Vineyard Haven, and the William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Mr. Downer leaves his wife, Mrs. Elise Mosley Downer, three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Righter Jr. of Winchester, Mrs. Thomas Bowes of South Byfield, and Mrs. Henry Tallman of Charlestown, West Va.; a sister, Mrs. Browning Marcan of New York City, and eight grandchildren.

Wilmington Girl Becomes Bride Of Woburn Man

In St. Thomas Church, Wilmington, Sunday, February 8, Miss Frances Theresa Haley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Haley of Nassau Avenue, Wilmington, became the bride of Mr. Daniel Charles Ferullo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ferullo of 752 Main Street, Woburn. Rev. McIntyre performed the four o'clock afternoon ceremony.

With her heavy white long-train satin gown with seed pearls at the neckline, the bride wore a long veil that fell from her crown of seed pearls. Her bride's bouquet was made up of carnations and sweet peas with an orchid center. Mr. Haley gave his daughter in marriage.

As maid of honor, Miss Alice R. Haley chose a two-toned velvet gown styled with a purple waist and an orchid sheer skirt. She carried a muff of assorted flowers with an orchid center.

Miss Patricia Haley, as junior bridesmaid, wore a green hooded skirt and carried a colonial bouquet. The little flower girl, Miss Ruth Ann Buxton of Reading, carried a flower basket of petals and wore a pink orchid taffeta frock.

Serving the groom as best man was Mr. Lewis Ferullo while the Messrs. Joseph Brogan of Burlington and R. Tambarello of Woburn served as ushers.

Mr. Thomas Coughlin, as soloist, rendered several sacred selections with Mrs. Kettle Shelly at the organ.

I WONDER I

I WONDER if you will be at the Smorgasbord tonight at the Couple's Club dance in the Unitarian Church?

I WONDER if there will be any empty seats left at the Lincoln School, Monday evening when the Winchester Citizens' Committee holds its open meeting?

I WONDER if the League of Women Voters won't bring to light some interesting facts and figures regarding the School situation at the Town Affairs Meeting Tuesday Feb. 17th?

I WONDER if Ulton will hypnotize the three pretty girls planning to attend his talk at the Church of the Epiphany this evening?

I WONDER if congratulations aren't in order to the directors of the First National Bank on the splendid transformation of their quarters.

I WONDER if Arthur J. Hewis Jr., candidate for Tax Collector is going to prove to Herald readers that "Consolidation Does Not Save," before the coming election?

I WONDER if the 25 copies of the Herald sent to the Winchester Hospital each week for the patients hasn't been like a "town crier" yet?
